THE MIDDLE EAST TODAY

----As Reported by Three Outstanding Religious Writers

The 1954 Club programs begin auspiciously this Thursday with an authoritative report on the Middle East by three prominent religious journalists who have recently completed a five-week inspection of that strategic sector. Appearing will be: Harold Fey, executive editor of The Christian Century, described by the American Friends of the Middle East, Inc., sponsors of the fact-finding tour, as "perhaps the most influential Protestant weekly in the Western Hemisphere"; John Cogley, executive editor of The Commonweal, a leading journal of Catholic opinion in America; and Morris Lazaron, member of the Board of Editors of the Jewish Newsletter, "liberal publication of life and thought."

The sponsoring AFME sent this trio on the assignment with complete freedom to "report what they see as they see it. AFME desires only to get the full facts about the area before the American people."

The three guest speakers will present brief reports and then open the session to questions.

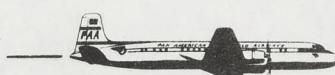

EARLY RESERVATIONS WILL BE APPRECIATED

JAMES V. FOLEY NAMED)      Effective January 4, James V. Foley will become Manager of NEW MANAGER OF CLUB )      the Overseas Press Club, it was announced this week by President
                                  J. CLIFFORD STARK. Foley replaces Harold H. Dawson who resigned the managerial post last month. Since the Board of Governors at its December 17 meeting abolished the "Secretary-Manager" title, Foley will hold the title of Manager.

The new Club Manager, who was selected by the Executive Committee from among 50 men under consideration, has had more than 20 years of club management experience. For many years he was manager of the Brooklawn Country Club at Bridgeport, Conn. For the past 5½ years he has managed the Salmagundi Club, a Manhattan arts society of 600 members. In that capacity he directed operations in the five-story club, including restaurant, bar and other accommodations.

OVERSEAS MAILBAG: From Ankara--by HAL LEHRMAN--"Arrived in Turkey first week in December from Israel. Have been doing pieces for Commentary, Fortune, Reader's Digest, The Freeman, Wall Street Journal. Next stop Morocco. Home in February for lectures."

From Buenos Aires--by JEAN JAFFE--"There's a huge Santa Claus of papier mache in the shopping section of B.A. but the brilliant sunshine makes him look a bit unreal. Get my daily dose of news from the two small but venerable local papers. Season's greetings to all members."

From Bangkok--by CHARLES L. COLTMAN--" x x x On my return to Bangkok from the FAO bi-ennial Conference in Rome (where I was stuck with the thankless job of Conference press officer) I found that ALEX MAC DONALD, The Bulletin Bangkok correspondent, is no longer with us. MAC evidently decided to retire to his native New England....It was nice while in Rome to renew acquaintances with Jim Long and STAN SWINTON of AP, George Weller of the Chicago Daily News and Jack Leacacos of the Cleveland Plain Dealer."

A condensation of CARL BAKAL's "Filter Manual" will be featured in the February Photography....(BAKAL, incidentally, spent the holiday in Sun Valley)...VICTOR LASKY has just signed with publisher Henry Regnery for an "unauthorized biography" of Eleanor Roosevelt..."When It Struck Sex O'Clock on Broadway", by EDWARD L. BERNAYS is in the 48th anniversary number of Variety.

Back in New York after seven months in Europe, NORBERT MUHLEN is writing a book on America for a German publisher and articles on Germany for The New Leader, The Freeman, The Reporter and other U.S. magazines. His story, "Top Secret" (Christian Science Monitor and Reader's Digest) is being used as a TV show by Alpha Television Productions.....Add "Prolific Colleagues": DON ROBINSON has an original in the January Reader's Digest, a profile of Taha Hussein, the blind Egyptian writer, educator and crusader for democracy....

LARGE GROUP OF CLUB MEMBERS URGES NAMING
OF COL. CAMPBELL AS SECRETARY OF THE FCC

It was reported this week that 44 members of the OPC have strongly recommended in a joint telegram that Lt. Col. William B. Campbell be appointed immediately as secretary of the Federal Communications Commission.

The wire was sent to FCC Chairman Rosel Hyde, on December 28. Signers included Past Presidents BOB CONSIDINE, JOHN DALY, LOWELL THOMAS, and EUGENE LYONS, HAL BOYLE and others active in Club affairs. The group said, in the wire, that Past President WYTHE WILLIAMS had been authorized "to see that these endorsements are brought to the attention of those directly or indirectly responsible for making the appointment" to fill the now-vacant post.

(Editor's Note: Going to press early this holiday week, The Bulletin was unable to confirm this action reported in Radio Daily-Television Daily. The Bulletin, however, had previously learned from Mr. WILLIAMS that such action was under consideration.)

The report noted that Col. Campbell was in charge of technical operations of SHAEF broadcasting directorate during World War II under General Eisenhower. He is currently completing a tour of duty in an important communications position at the Pentagon.

*****
* EL COMERCIO BAN * El Comercio, The Bulletin was informed this week by Virginia
* LIFTED XMAS EVE * Prewett Mizelle, Chairman of the OPC Inter-American Affairs ***** Committee.

The paper resumed publication on December 26 (the ban was rescinded December 24) and dedicated its first issue to "freedom and democracy."

The OPC Board of Governors, as noted, had approved a protest to the Ecuadorian government over the closure of El Comercio (for refusing to publish a government communique attacking the whole Ecuadorian press). The protest was addressed to President Jose M. Velasco Ibarra and signed by Miss MIZELLE and ANSEL TALBERT, chairman of the Club's Committee on Freedom of the Press and Information.

(The re-opening of El Comercio was hailed in a New York Times editorial, declaring that "progress that is being made in Latin America in defending freedom of the press is becoming truly impressive." Said The Times: "The free press all over the hemisphere joined (the Inter-American Press Association) in the struggle, along with organizations like the Overseas Press Club x x x"

Coal—Fuel of The Future

Without coal a great modern city is a helpless cripple. Heat. Lights. Refrigeration. Transportation. Elevators. Signal systems. Telephone. Industry. All these depend on coal.

One modern city came near such paralysis. That was Berlin in 1948 when the Russians thought to strangle it into submission. Of all the cargo flown into Berlin, 64% was coal. Nearly 1,500,000 tons. Enough to fill 30,000 big, hopper coal cars. That coal was like new blood in a dying man's veins.

We don't fly much coal here in America—occasionally to an arctic defense base or a bag dropped to a storm-isolated farm house. Coal is something we have always taken for granted. There's plenty to last a thousand—maybe two thousand years. It is widely distributed; and the great coal-hauling railroads like the C & O are equipped to move it rapidly.

For instance, the C & O has invested many millions of dollars in coal cars; in great coal-handling docks at Newport News and Toledo to facilitate water shipments to world and Great Lakes markets. Coal is one natural resource you don't need to worry about. It is the one fuel that will always be plentiful.

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway

Terminal Tower, Cleveland 1, Ohio

MEMBERS ON THE AIR: Guest on the Christmas Eve "This I Believe" series by WCBS radio was CARROLL BINDER, editorial editor of the Minneapolis Tribune. EDWARD R. MURROW was host. (Speaking of MURROW, his many highly-praised activities will include that of narrator on a hour-long documentary film, "Resources for Freedom" to be produced for CBS TV by Roy Lockwood. Subject is, in effect, the Paley Report on natural resources.) ... Tonight (January 2) ANSEL TALBERT appears on NBC radio program "Thirty Forgotten Men", referring to the American newsmen and others believed to be held in Red China...

News You Knew: The U. S. Ambassador to Italy, Mrs. CLARE BOOTHE LUCE, is back in the states at this time for a three-week stay, ending January 20....PAUL C. SMITH has been promoted to the presidency of Crowell-Collier.

*****

RITA HUME SECONDARI KILLED IN MAJORCA AUTO CRASH

A cheerful message from the island of Majorca came across The Bulletin editor's desk this week. It read:

"We just received a whole group of OPC Bulletins dating back to last July and had a lot of fun reading them.....The island of Majorca seems cut off from the world but it's a good place to be writing a book..All the best."

-- JOHN and RITA HUME SECONDARI.

Two days later came the news that on December 29 RITA HUME SECONDARI was killed in an automobile accident on Majorca. Her husband and fellow member, JOHN, reportedly was driving the car, and suffered minor injuries.

RITA HUME SECONDARI covered World War II for INS, with the Italian partisans behind German lines at the time Mussolini was executed. She wrote an eye-witness account of the Italian dictator's death on returning to Allied lines. Rome had been her headquarters since 1947 in her capacity as correspondent there for the Seattle Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance, on a free-lance basis. She was a native of Seattle.

The Bulletin regretfully records the death of this popular Member and joins the entire membership in extending sympathy to her surviving husband and our fellow Member.

SYDNEY (Bill) MORRELL, the ex-London Daily Express foreign correspondent and now ass't director of Ford PR, was guest lecturer at NYU class ("PR in Gov't") taught by LEO J. MARGOLIN...SPYROS P. SKOURAS recently flew in from London....The Club office staff will gladly oblige the Member who requested that his mailing address be changed from RFD 5, Ridgefield, Conn. to RFD 1, Pound Ridge, N.Y.--if the Member would kindly tell them who he (or she) is...
